MESSAGE

I am happy to learn that Delhi Pharmaceutical Sciences and Research University, New Delhi is organizing “13th IASTAM ORATION AND AWARDS FUNCTION-2023 & INTERNATIONAL CONCLAVE” on 21st - 22nd January 2023.

The COVID 19 epidemic has brought Ayurveda back into the spotlight and increased its appeal on a global scale. The development and execution of the regulation for the use of these conventional Ayurveda medications in a variety of ailments, however, are confronting serious challenges. In order to improve the use of these medical systems, it is desirable to develop systematic and scientific regulations for Ayurveda that ensure safety and efficacy. I hope that this meeting will encourage discussion among scientists about overcoming the aforementioned obstacles and help establish Ayurveda as a safe and effective alternate medical system globally, as envisioned by Hon'ble Prime Minister.

I hope that Ayurveda emerges as a prominent system of healthcare on a global scale, since it focuses on not only restoring health by treating the underlying cause of diseases, but also on the overall well-being of the individual.

I wish the conference to come out with recommendations.
