

MESSAGE

Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University Delhi is among the best higher education institutions for social sciences and humanities not only in the Delhi NCR but in the country. The University is known for its academic brilliance, innovative spirit, and institutionalization of democratic values. It has worked towards staying abreast with contemporary developments.

Flexibility and seamless creativity are built into the academic and administrative ecosystem of the University. This makes the University one of the potential leaders in the implementation of novel ideas entailed in the National Education Policy 2020. As a multidisciplinary institution, the University has the right kind of ethos for nurturing the NEP of excellence and innovation in higher education that is based on the principles of equity.

I trust that the youth of the city and country will gain from rich academic environment provided by the University. I convey my best wishes to all the young aspirants applying for admission to the various programmes of the University.
