MESSAGE

I am glad to know that Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University Delhi has prepared a Course Compendium on Bhartiya Knowledge Systems. The preparation of this compendium reflects the University's commitment to engaging with India's knowledge traditions in ways that are academically rigorous, interdisciplinary and relevant to contemporary society.

Bhartiya Knowledge Systems represent India's rich intellectual and civilizational traditions that have evolved over centuries through inquiry, reflection, practice and lived experience. Rooted in diverse philosophical, linguistic, scientific, artistic and ecological traditions, these knowledge systems embody holistic approaches to understanding society, nature and human life.

Such efforts can contribute to research, teaching and dialogue on India's intellectual heritage, while also encouraging wider global engagement with indigenous knowledge, traditions and perspectives.

I am confident that this compendium will serve as a valuable academic resource and inspire further scholarship and innovation in the field of Bhartiya Knowledge Systems.
