MESSAGE

On the momentous occasion of IIIT-Delhi's 12th Convocation, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to all the graduating students. Their unwavering dedication and perseverance have led them to this significant milestone. Commendation also goes to the educators, parents, mentors, friends, and supporters who stood by them throughout their journey.

South Asia as indeed the entire and the global arena are currently confronted with various challenges and prospects. The intricate interplay between humanity and the environment is being reshaped by the impact of climate change. Simultaneously, the rapid strides in artificial intelligence are broadening the scope of human-technology interaction. The dynamics of globalization are reshaping international and communal relations as knowledge traverses the globe at unprecedented speeds.

Your educational journey has aptly equipped you to confront these pressing issues. From computer science to data science, environmental science to economics, and design to electronics, your diverse skill set holds immense relevance. In this process, you've also come to understand the richness of a diverse community and, most importantly, that challenges should be embraced rather than feared.

In my perspective, you symbolise promise: the potential of a new generation adept at collaborative, communicative, and innovative thinking. This promise extends to your alma mater, an Institution attuned to emerging challenges and eager to contribute to the nation building. Bright futures await both you and your alma mater. May you continue drawing inspiration from each other for decades to come.

Over the past fifteen years, IIIT-Delhi has earned its place among the finest educational and research institutes globally. However, the institute's hallmark goes beyond academics. It has endowed its students with the tools for their careers and instilled values that distinguish them as individuals. Their commitment to societal betterment is commendable, and as they step out as graduates of this esteemed institution, I trust they will persist in contributing to our community, nation, and the world.

A Convocation marks the culmination of a chapter and a leap into the future. Their university education has furnished them with the foundation for the journey ahead. I extend my heartfelt commendations to the graduating class of 2023 for your achievements. Congratulations once again, and may your path be illuminated with success and fulfilment.
