MESSAGE

I am happy to learn that the University College of Medical Sciences, Delhi University is commemorating its 53rd Foundation Day and Convocation.

It is notable that UCMS has established itself as a pillar of innovation and excellence in our healthcare system. Its unwavering commitment of nurturing capable and compassionate healthcare professionals is commendable and vital in our ongoing efforts to meet complex health challenges.

The graduates, who pass over the portals of their Alma Mater today will be practicing a noble profession and carry forward the knowledge and ethos of UCMS. You are equipped not only to heal, but to transform lives through your skill, dedication, and compassion. Bright futures await both you and your alma mater. May you continue drawing inspiration from each other for decades to come.

I extend my heartiest congratulations to the administration, faculty, graduates and the entire UCMS community on this occasion.
